

Celebrating Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander (AANHPI) Heritage Month: Past, Present and Future

Tuesday, May 12th at 3pm
Auditorium

Speaker: Jennifer Marana

In celebration of Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander (AANHPI) Heritage Month, this interactive program invites participants to explore the rich histories, diverse identities, and evolving experiences of AANHPI communities in the United States.

Together, we will reflect on key moments from the past—including immigration journeys and exclusionary policies—while also examining the present through demographic trends, cultural contributions, and notable figures who have shaped our society. Participants will be encouraged to engage in thoughtful reflection and dialogue, making personal connections to the stories and themes shared.

This session offers a welcoming space to learn, reflect, and look ahead—considering how we can all contribute to a more inclusive and connected future.
