in the Auditorium

Broadmead is pleased to welcome back Muslim poet Mohammed Arafat and Jewish storyteller Noa Baum for a powerful spoken word program designed to inspire connection, understanding, and compassion.

This year's event also includes a new interactive workshop following the poetry and storytelling presentation. Through guided reflection and discussion, participants will have the opportunity to explore the themes of the program on a more personal level.

Please bring a notebook or journal and a pen or pencil to participate in the workshop.
